

2016 LOVELAND STONE AGE FAIR

BIOGRAPHY

Mr. Jeb Taylor

Author, Avocational Archaeologist and Western Historian
Clearmont, Wyoming

Mr. Jeb Taylor is an avocational archaeologist and historian who has consistently worked to establish a bridge between collectors and professional archaeologists. He has authored many articles for avocational archaeological publications and has written a highly acclaimed reference book titled Projectile Points of the High Plains. Jeb's current focus is addressing problems associated with the present state and future prospects of civilization.

Title of Presentation:

Understanding Tool Stone: Setting the Record Straight

Program Description: Jeb Taylor will present an explanation of tool stone from a geological perspective, including identification of specific types and how they formed. He will also discuss some of the misconceptions regarding current tool stone terminology and offer appropriate alternatives.

